

Alderman Designs Plaque

FOR NEW LIBRARY—Foundry workers Don (left) and Charles Wile are raising the pattern of the Halifax Memorial Library plaque from its sand mould. After being "toughened-up" by spraying with a solution of water and molasses, molten bronze will be poured into the mould. The plaque was designed by Alderman A. H. MacMillan. (Staff photo by Cochrane).

